All events are open to all participants and presenters. More information about how to join the website will be sent to participants and presenters around the last week of May.

Please note that the deadline to apply to participate in this consortium has passed. Applicants with incomplete applications were not processed and we are not accepting late applications.

We urge doctoral students and faculty to consider applying for next year's consortium if you were not able to attend this year. In addition, current participants can participate in multiple years.
